

Honouring our past – embracing our future.

~ BCGEU Aboriginal Workers Network

Aboriginal people have lived in British Columbia and Canada “since time immemorial.” The BCGEU supports Aboriginal rights and title. Aboriginal workers contribute to our society at all levels, but often face barriers related to discrimination and misconceptions.

The BC Government and Service Employees’ Union is committed to advancing equity and human rights.

The BCGEU Equity and Human Rights Committee comprises members of equity groups (Aboriginal Workers; Workers of Colour; Gay, Lesbian, Bi-sexual, Transgendered Workers; Workers with Disabilities).

If you are a BCGEU member of an equity group and want to join one of our equity networks, complete the equity questionnaire on the Human Rights page at www.bcgeu.ca or through your local BCGEU area office.
