

Pride and solidarity.

Gay, lesbian, bi-sexual, and transgendered (GLBT) workers contribute to our society at all levels, but often face barriers related to discrimination and misconceptions.

The BC Government and Service Employees' Union is committed to advancing equity and human rights.

The BCGEU Equity and Human Rights Committee comprises members of equity groups (Aboriginal Workers; Workers of Colour; Gay, Lesbian, Bi-sexual, Transgendered Workers; Workers with Disabilities).

If you are a BCGEU member of an equity group and want to join one of our equity networks, complete the equity questionnaire on the Human Rights page at www.bcgeu.ca or through your local BCGEU area office.

Gay, lesbian, bi-sexual, and transgendered (GLBT) workers contribute to our society at all levels, but often face barriers related to discrimination and misconceptions.

The BC Government and Service Employees' Union is committed to advancing equity and human rights.

The BCGEU Equity and Human Rights Committee comprises members of equity groups (Aboriginal Workers; Workers of Colour; Gay, Lesbian, Bi-sexual, Transgendered Workers; Workers with Disabilities).

If you are a BCGEU member of an equity group and want to join one of our equity networks, complete the equity questionnaire on the Human Rights page at www.bcgeu.ca or through your local BCGEU area office.

cep 467 / cope 378

Pride and solidarity.

~ BCGEU GLBT Workers Network